HUMANITARIAN CRISIS

Water is a major challenge in many parts of Nigeria. Many households in Nigeria do not have access to clean and drinkable water.

The Murtala Muhammed Foundation at various times had intervened in providing access to clean water in many communities reached out to. One is at Kano where the foundation provided motorized borehole at strategic locations to ensure regular supply of clean water in the community.

OUR HUMANITARIAN WORK

DISASTER RELIEF

The Murtala Muhammed Foundation monitors disasters as they occur and assess their impact and the needs of the victims in order to determine how they can be appropriately addressed to provide relief and seek solutions in forestalling such disasters from recurring. MMF is addressing disasters in partnership with organizations with specialized skills and interest which meet the peculiar needs of the vulnerable population.

DISASTER MANAGEMENT ACT

The Murtala Muhammed Foundation presented a draft Disaster Management Act to the National Assembly in 2007.

This provides a medium of regulation for on-the-scene and post disaster recovery & rehabilitation. We also seek to establish a National Disaster Management Commission and aims at changing the ways and manners the Nation responds to complex emergencies & provide psychological support to victims of disaster.

MMF NEED TRAINING

The NEED Training Course [Nigeria Emergency Enhancement and Disaster Management Training Course] illustrates the importance of comprehensive disaster management and emergency preparedness and training to all first responders including trained personnel and the members of the emergency services.

WHAT'S THE PROBLEM?

- Nigeria faces significant challenges hindering social and economic development, particularly in governance and policy.
- MMF's research and past projects identify key areas requiring attention, emphasizing the critical link between effective governance and sustainable progress.
- Inadequate policy frameworks, corruption, and a lack of inclusivity hinder Nigeria's development potential.
- The impact of governance and policy challenges is particularly pronounced in education, humanitarian aid, and women's empowerment.
- There is a pressing need for targeted interventions to bridge the gap between policy formulation and on-the-ground impact.

Program Goal

- Primary goals: Address governance and policy challenges in Nigeria, specifically contributing to SDGs related to education, humanitarian aid, and women empowerment.
- Objectives: Policy reform, capacity building, and strategic partnerships for sustainable positive changes.
- MMF aspires to become a thought leader, influencing national and international discourse on transformative governance.
- MMF's objectives align with the broader vision of creating a resilient, equitable, and prosperous Nigerian society.

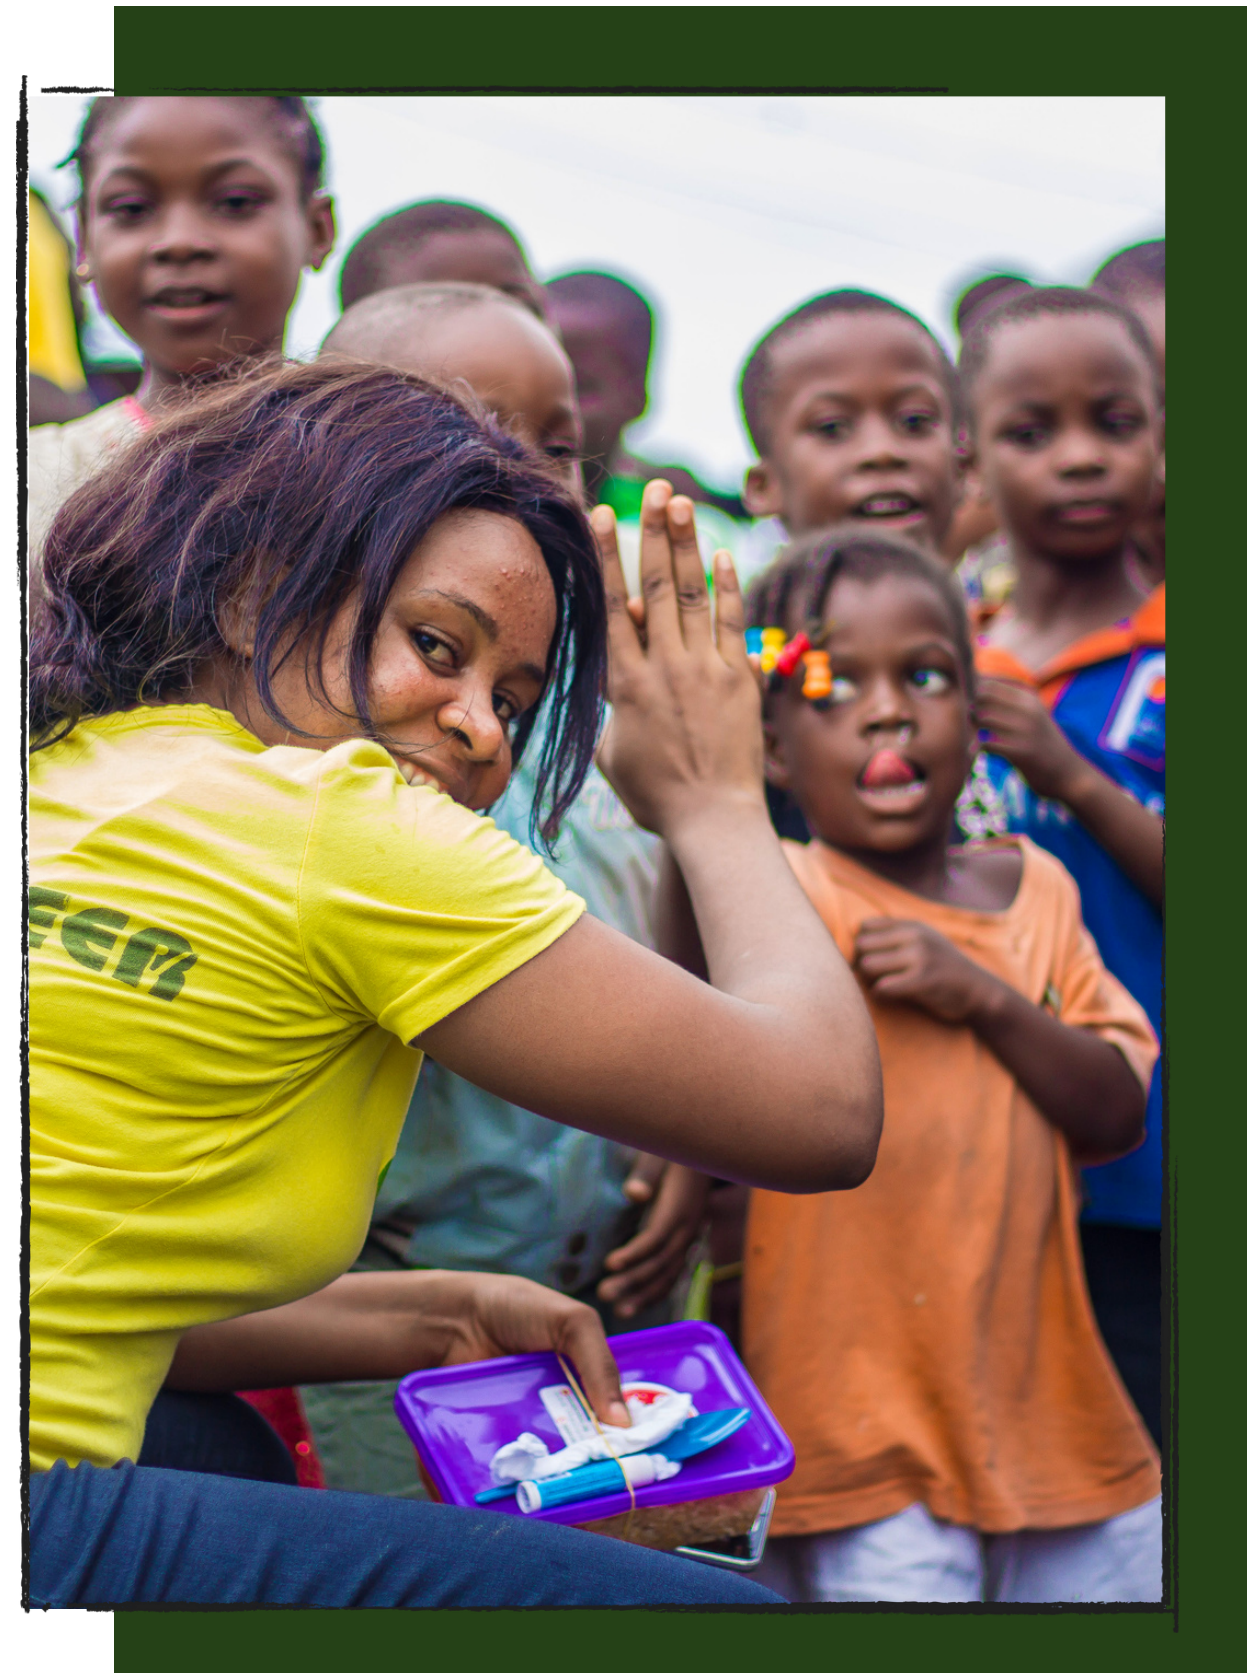

Target Audience

- Key stakeholders: Nigerian government bodies, NGOs, and international organizations.
- MMF recognizes the importance of engaging with local communities, civil society, and grassroots organizations and aims to foster a sense of collective responsibility among the Nigerian public, emphasizing that transformative governance is a shared endeavor.
- The target audience includes policymakers, legislators, and community leaders who play a pivotal role in shaping governance outcomes.
- The foundation actively seeks partnerships with academic institutions and research organizations to enhance evidence-based policy advocacy.

EXPECTED OUTCOMES

- Strengthened collaborative efforts
- Increased public awareness of governance issues
- Long-Term Sustainable Impact
- Improved Quality of Life
- Development of a replicable model
- Positive Shift in Socio-Economic Indicators
- Capacity Building and Skill Development
- International recognition and support

Advocacy Strategies

- Foundation Policy Dialogues & Presidential Debates focus on encouraging policies, strategies, and programs promoting wealth creation, economic empowerment, equity, ethics, accountability, and exemplary leadership.
- Leveraging successful strategies from previous initiatives, MMF aims to bring tangible and positive governance changes through partnerships with NGOs and the Federal Government of Nigeria.
- Media advocacy strategy, utilizing various communication channels to raise awareness about governance challenges and proposed solutions. MMF actively engages in public campaigns, leveraging social media platforms to mobilize support for transformative governance.
- Continuous dialogue with the media to ensure accurate representation and widespread dissemination of advocacy messages.
- Leveraging international partnerships to bring global best practices and expertise to the Nigerian governance landscape
